Honoring our centennial with... beer

Partnerships with two local craft breweries – Ninkasi and Oakshire.

A way to celebrate our clean and abundant water.

We did in a way that avoided “blowback” or criticism (i.e., public expenditures ).

All profits from this beer directly benefit the McKenzie River Trust in its non-profit mission to protect western Oregon waters for us all.

THANKS EWEB!

Ninkasi Brewing Company, McKenzie River Trust and Eugene Water & Electric Board Are...

Commemorating EWEB's Centennial year of providing healthy, clean water!

The McKenzie River is one of the cleanest rivers on the planet allowing EWEB to provide pure drinking water to over 200,000 people in the greater Eugene area and is the main ingredient in Ninkasi's award-winning brews.

Enjoy the River!

MCKENZIE RIVER TRUST

Fresh from the banks of the McKenzie River comes a collaboration as pure as the water itself. In 2011, Oakshire Brewing will craft three Centennial Reserve beers in recognition of Eugene Water & Electric Board's first century of service to Eugene. Our mutual appreciation for exceptional water and our local community inspires us to help provide for the next hundred years of pure water—which is why all Oakshire profits from these three Centennial Reserve beers will be donated directly to the Berggren Demonstration Farm. This collaborative effort between the McKenzie River Trust, EWEB, the McKenzie Watershed Council and the Bonneville Power Administration, is a 92-acre project aimed at promoting sustainable agriculture along the McKenzie River. So raise your glass to the next 100 years of clean drinking water from the McKenzie River and to those who protect its purity.
